

Everyone remembers the game of “Candy Land”, where each player travels along the colorful path through Candy Cane Forest, Gum Drop Mountain and the Chocolate Swamp. At the Grandma’s Pantry website, we have created our own candy land. We have recently listed on our site all of the mouth-watering candies that are available from our store in Harrisonburg, Virginia. That’s 344 different kinds of bulk candy to satisfy everyone’s sweet tooth, including regular and sugar- free candy.

The art of making candy dates back to ancient times. However, it was during the Industrial Revolution, with its mass production and the availability of sugar, that candy became an accessible treat for everyone. Over the years, recipes and techniques have been perfected and all kinds of novelty candies, as well as the old favorites, are now available for everyone to enjoy.

At Grandma’s Pantry we have an excellent variety of mouth-watering candies to choose from: Milk chocolates and dark chocolates, hard candies, novelty candies, old- fashioned candies, as well as a selection of different kinds of sugar-free candies: something for everyone that will satisfy the craving for one of life’s sweet pleasures.

Did you know that over 60 million Tootsie Rolls are produced every day and have been available for more than 100 years? Double Bubble Bubblegum was invented in 1928. Teaberry Gum was a favorite in the 1900’s. Gummy candies come in a variety of fun and delicious shapes, like fried eggs, jelly-filled turtles, chicken feet (or turkey feet, if you are a Virginia Tech fan) and many other fun shapes.

If your sugar intake must be limited, you can still satisfy your sweet tooth with sugar-free candy. These sweet treats have all the delicious taste without the guilt. Over 18 million Americans in the U.S. are diabetic and many others are on restricted diets so the need for quality sugar-free candies is great. We want to offer everyone the opportunity to enjoy this treat.

We are doing our part to make the world a sweeter place so check out our candy land at www.GrandmasPantryVA.com. Our friendly and helpful staff is ready to take your order and meet your needs for some sweet treats today.
